INTRODUCTION

Over the years, obtaining financial assistance has become highly competitive and sophisticated around the globe. The impact of the pandemic has also had a direct and immediate implications for Official Development Assistance (ODA) budgets<sup>1</sup>. In 2020, total ODA for all Development Assistance Committee (DAC) member countries combined as a percent of GNI stood at 0.32%<sup>2</sup>.

The good news is that the need to standout and successfully get grants has given rise to a growing number of consultants and online platforms that support social enterprises, NGOs, and other Civil Society organization to be able to fund their projects and businesses.

By mid 2020, when all international travel came to a standstill, Islamic Chambers of Commerce Industry and Agriculture (ICCIA) initiated this report to build its intelligence on available funds that may support its own projects. Our focus was to identify grants or free capital for the development of some of our feasibility studies across multiple themes like Islamic Microfinance, Green Waqf and Commodities & Agriculture Exchange Markets. This report is the product of our research. We have tried to organize our learnings for the benefit of our member chambers and their members so that they may utilize available funding options for their projects too.

In the pages ahead, you will find profiles of international organisations such as OIC institutions, UN agencies and other global funds with information on their focus areas and geographic priorities. The report is mostly focused on institutions that are either operating or interested in increasing their footprint across or part of the OIC region. We hope this information will provide valuable insights that will be useful in developing a strong engagement strategy and concept notes that resonate with the potential donors.

IN THE NAME OF ALLAH, THE MOST GRACIOUS, THE MOST MERCIFUL

In the Islamic Chamber of Commerce, Industry & Agriculture, we believe that the dissemination of knowledge is one of our permanent tools to achieve our diverse goals, and that this knowledge must be reliable and updated, and it must also be accessible & written in various languages. In this context, this guidance comes as a precursor for ICCIA`s publications, for its particular importance.

This guidance is an internal guide issued by International Relations Department of ICCIA`s General Secretariat, as one of the internal documents used by this department & other departments to perform their daily functions. When I checked the whole guidance, I realized its importance for all the civil society institutions of our Islamic World. Therefore, I requested to develop it till it was finalized as shown, to integrate its usefulness for all its users, whom we are pleased to present it to them in the three adopted languages in our business.

We would always be glad if this guidance, and the other following publications, were used by various readers, and definitely more pleased to receive visions and suggestions that contribute to increasing its influence and enriching its components.

I pray that all of our publications be: practical, useful and interesting for all.
